White-Cheeked Gibbon, Created on Day 6 ( November 18, 2011)

Design The white-cheeked gibbon has extremely dense fur, which protects it from the rain of its habitat. It also has extremely long hook-shaped hands and feet, which is the perfect design for its life in the trees. It was also created with opposable thumbs, which are excellent design features for tree life given to the gibbon by its Creator.

Features The arms and legs of the white-cheeked gibbon are longer than other primates' limbs. The male white-cheeked gibbon is black, but the females turn a golden color as she ages. The male is recognized by the white patches on his cheeks.

Fun Facts The white-cheeked gibbon is known for its morning call which keeps pairs together and warns other family units away from its territory. This species is able to leap up to 30 ft (9 m) between trees. The white-cheeked gibbon cannot swim.

Twenty Dollars Worth of Priceless Advice

Date: Sent Thursday, November 23, 2000

A well known speaker started off his seminar by holding up a $20 bill. In the room of 200, he asked, "Who would like this $20 bill?" Hands started going up.

He said, "I am going to give this $20 to one of you but first, let me do this." He proceeded to crumple the dollar bill up. He then asked, "Who still wants it?" Still the hands were up in the air.

"Well," he replied, "What if I do this?" And he dropped it on the ground and started to grind it into the floor with his shoe. He picked it up, now crumpled and dirty. "Now who still wants it?" Still the hands went into the air.

"My friends, you have all learned a very valuable lesson. No matter what I did to the money, you still wanted it because it did not decrease in value. It was still worth $20."

"Many times in our lives, we are dropped, crumpled and ground into the dirt by the decisions we make and the circumstances that come our way. We feel as though we are worthless. But no matter what has happened or what will happen, you will never lose your value: dirty or clean, crumpled or finely creased, you are still priceless to those who love you. The worth of our lives comes not in what we do or who we know, but by WHO WE ARE. You are special - Don't ever forget it. Count your Blessings, not your problems."
