God Speaks of the Ant in His Word, the Bible. (March 23, 2010)

Proverbs 6:6-8 says:

Go to the ant, you sluggard! Consider her ways and be wise, which, having no captain, overseer or ruler, provides her supplies in the summer, and gathers her food in the harvest.

God says to learn from the ant. As you watch and study the ants around you, notice these things about them.

The ant is persistent, sticking to a job, whether building a nest or gathering food. Do you always stick to a job until it is done and done right?

It knows its job and does it, working quietly and without show until the work is done.

Do you work without complaining, without whining? Do you do your job quietly?

It doesn't need another ant watching to be sure it gets its work done.

Can you do a job without someone checking on you to be sure it is being done?

It is cooperative, working with others to get big jobs done.

Do you work happily together with your friends, brothers, sisters, or classmates?

And "don't sin by letting anger control you." Don't let the sun go down while you are still angry, for anger gives a foothold to the devil. Ephesians 4:26-27, NLT*

The Bible doesn't tell us that we shouldn't feel angry, but it points out that it is important to handle our anger properly. If vented thoughtlessly, anger can hurt others and destroy relationships. If bottled up inside, it can cause us to become bitter and destroy us from within. Paul tells us to deal with our anger immediately in a way that builds relationships rather than destroys them.

If we nurse our anger, we will give Satan an opportunity to divide us. Are you angry with someone right now? What can you do to resolve your differences? Don't let the day end before you begin to work on mending your relationship.

Anger is the noise of the soul; the unseen irritant of the heart; the relentless invader of silence. - Max Lucado

Take no action in a furious passion. It's putting to sea in a storm. - Thomas Fuller

Benjamin Franklin once decided to become morally perfect. He chose 13 qualities he felt embodied moral perfection and tried to perfect one a week - at the end of 13 weeks he would be morally perfect. He failed, yet later wrote he had become a much better man for trying and failing than if he had never tried at all. Our situation with the Lord is similar. We will never become morally perfect, as Paul writes, but we can experience maturation as we grow into the image of Christ.
