One of God's most amazing creatures is the little gecko, a lizard that is widely seen in insurance commercials. Scientists have been studying the gecko and its incredible sticky feet that can clean themselves. Have you ever tried to reuse a piece of tape? Or have your Velcro tennis shoe tabs lost their gripping ability? This is like the problem scientists are trying to solve. Sticky things pick up pieces of dirt and thread and soon lose their stickiness. Researchers are trying to design a sticky substance that will not lose its stickiness because it continually cleans off the dirt it picks up. This will help them build a robot that can go across walls and ceilings. Any dirt the robot tread picks up could be cleaned off as it continues to travel. God created the gecko with self-cleaning feet. It can walk up walls and across ceilings and any dirt that sticks to its feet is cleaned off by tiny hairs on its toes. Researchers are studying these amazing feet and hoping to duplicate their ability to stay clean. Once again, men are trying to copy the creative work of God. Whenever scientists invent something new, it seems God always thought of it first!

Twinkies and Root Beer

A little boy set out to meet God. He thought it could be a long trip to where God lives so he packed his suitcase with Twinkies and a six-pack of root beer and started his journey.

When he had gone about three blocks he met an old man. He was sitting in the park just staring at some pigeons. The boy sat down next to him and opened his little suitcase. He was about to take a drink from his root beer when he noticed that the old man looked hungry so he offered him a Twinkie.

The elderly gentleman gratefully accepted it and smiled at the lad. His smile was so pleasant the boy wanted to see it again, so he offered him a root beer. Again, he smiled at him. The boy was delighted! They sat there all afternoon eating and smiling, but they never said a word.

As it grew dark, the boy realized how tired he was and he got up to leave, but before he had gone more than a few steps, he turned around, ran back to the old man, and gave him a hug. He gave him his biggest smile ever.

When the boy opened the door to his own house a short time later, his mother was surprised by the look of joy on his face. She asked him, "What did you do today that made you so happy?" He replied, "I had lunch with God." But before his mother could respond, he added, "You know what? He's got the most beautiful smile I've ever seen!"

Meanwhile, the old man, also radiant with joy, returned to his home. His son was stunned by the look of peace on his face and asked, "Dad, what did you do today that made you so happy?" He replied, "I ate Twinkies in the park with God." Before his son responded, he added, "You know, he's much younger than I expected."

Too often we underestimate the power of a touch, a smile, a kind word, a listening ear, an honest compliment, or the smallest act of caring, all of which have the potential to turn a life around. People come into our lives for a reason, a season, or a lifetime. Embrace all equally! — author unknown <http://tinyurl.com/kgor7xs>

COINCIDENCE?

A teacher asked his class to give examples of coincidence. There was a long silence, than a small boy said: "My father and my mother were married on the same day."
