Skunk

The sight of these striped "polecats" strikes fear even in the largest bears. The skunk's distinct black-and-white pattern is a warning: stay away unless you want to be sprayed with a foul-smelling liquid.

A Holy Nature

A holy man was engaged in his morning meditation under a tree whose roots stretched out over the riverbank. During his meditation he noticed that the river was rising, and a scorpion caught in the roots was about to drown. He crawled out on the roots and reached down to free the scorpion, but every time he did so, the scorpion struck back at him. An observer came along and said to the holy man, 'Don't you know that's a scorpion, and it's in the nature of a scorpion to want to sting?' To which the holy man replied, 'That may well be, but it is my nature to save, and must I change my nature because the scorpion does?'

Fist Fights and Flights

After four days of canceled flights, my daughter, Megan, finally departed Washington DC on her way to Africa. About 1 hour over the Atlantic Ocean a man a few rows behind her slapped the head of a man who had reclined his seat! A fist fight broke out, resulting in the pilot deciding to head back to Washington DC. Two F-16's soon joined them to escort them back, all because of a man who lacked the self-control necessary to resolve his conflict with words instead of physical assault. Proverbs 25:28 teaches, "Like a city whose walls are broken down is a man who lacks self-control." Workplaces, like airplanes, can become volatile at times. When provoked, remember that a cool head and self-control is best. By: Rick Boxx <http://www.crosswalk.com/devotionals/integrity-moments/integrity-moments-june-13-2011.html>
