CHILDREN'S CORNER

- Gray Wolf (Created on Day 6)

Design: The gray wolf has a layer of dense underfur that insulates it against the cold temperatures of its habitat. When a female gray wolf digs its den, it digs downward, then upward to prevent flooding. This instinct was given to the wolf by its Creator.

Features: Gray wolves can vary in color from white to dark gray based on where they are found.

A gray wolf usually carries its tail high, whereas a coyote usually carries its tail below the level of the back.

Fun Facts: The entire wolf pack takes care of the pups. They feed and protect them. Wolves communicate through howling, rubbing chins, and rolling over on their backs. These motions can communicate dominance in the pack, boundaries of a pack's territory, or a call to join in a hunt.

~BIRTHDAYS AND ANNIVERSARIES~

March 7, Happy Birthday! Jacob Byler, 2003

Caretakers –

In the 50th Psalm, verse 10 tells us that God owns the cattle on a thousand hills. Not only does God own the cattle, he also owns the hills. In verse 12, God says, ". . . for the world is mine, and all that is in it."

God created and, therefore, owns all that we see around us. As ranchers and cattlemen we are only caretakers, responsible for the well-being of the land and the cattle God has entrusted to us. That is an awesome responsibility, but most of us feel very fortunate to be able to do what we are doing. Millions of people in this country and around the world would jump at an opportunity to trade places with us. God has been good to us and we have much to be thankful for.

Take time to visit with God today. Thank him for the many blessings you have received. Don't forget that many of the blessings you received came with responsibilities.

Don't just GO to church; BE the Church

Ten of the twelve spies focused on the problems, not on the promises. Two of the twelve spies, Joshua and Caleb, focused on the promises, not on the problems. Joshua and Caleb said, "We are well able." The other spies said, "We are not able." Each got exactly what they said. They all settled their own destinies by the way they used their tongues."
